Introduction

When Birkbeck College was established in 1823, its principal mission was to provide education and training to working adults who earlier in life had lacked educational opportunity. Birkbeck now welcomes a diverse range of students, studying both full- and part-time at undergraduate and postgraduate level. A College of the University of London since 1920, Birkbeck is still highly committed to the concept of lifelong education, and especially within the world of work. Birkbeck and the other member colleges of the University of London have many research interests in common and share the same standards and degrees structures, but in one important respect Birkbeck is unique. Our mission is ‘to provide courses of study to meet the changing educational, cultural and training needs of adults who are engaged in earning their livelihood, and others who are able to benefit’ (Birkbeck College Charter).

Birkbeck College has built up special expertise in providing a stimulating, positive learning environment for adult, mature students. We award undergraduate degrees in a full range of disciplines, taught in full-time and part-time modes, and we have an unusually high proportion of students following taught Masters and MPhil/PhD courses.

Department

Welcome to the Department of English and Humanities in the School of Arts. You are joining a vibrant community of graduates, which includes over 200 MA and some 100 PhD students. We hope that you will feel at home in this intellectual community. This booklet contains the essential information about the MA Contemporary Literature programme.

The Department of English and Humanities occupies houses in Gordon Square which are associated with the members of the Bloomsbury Group. 46 Gordon Square was the family home of Virginia Woolf, her brothers and her sister, Vanessa, until the latter’s marriage to the art critic Clive Bell in 1907. It was later occupied by the economist John Maynard Keynes.

Most School of English activities take place in 43 Gordon Square, with classes also held in Russell Square and in the Main Building on Malet Street (and occasionally in other University of London buildings). The Malet Street building is where the Library, computer rooms and the student bar (fifth floor of the extension) are situated. A snack bar is located on the ground floor of 43 Gordon Square. We are close to the bars and cafés of the University of London Union, the Institute of Education and the School of Oriental and African Studies: explore the area for the environment that suits you.

We aim to provide intellectual stimulus in a supportive environment. Some students find the transition to graduate work initially disorientating, but we have a lot of experience in helping mature students with heavy commitments elsewhere successfully to manage their postgraduate studies. If you do have any difficulties, please talk to your module tutor, your personal tutor, or to the Programme Director.

Starting your Course

Completing Your Enrolment
After receiving an offer of a place on the programme, you need to enrol as soon as possible. Enrolment is completed via your My Birkbeck Profile (see information below). You must complete your enrolment within the first 28 days of term by setting up a payment plan, or making a contribution to your fees. By completing your enrolment you can gain access to your student profile and programme documents.

Please ensure you read your contract of enrolment. Students who withdraw or take a break in their studies after the first two weeks will be liable for the full fees for that term. Click here to complete your enrolment via your My Birkbeck Profile.

My Birkbeck Profile
Your My Birkbeck Profile in conjunction with Student Services is your gateway to accessing student support at Birkbeck. Quick links to the most current information on a range of services including the Birkbeck Library, Moodle, Timetables, Computing and IT Support, Career Services, Learning Support, Disability and Dyslexia Support, Counselling Service and more are listed.

My Birkbeck Profile
My Birkbeck Profile is the online facility that allows Birkbeck students to manage their relationship with Birkbeck online. You can log in to your My Birkbeck Profile to check and amend your contact details, order an ID card and keep track of your financial status and grades. You will use your My Birkbeck Profile to access your module and timetable information, Personal Tutor details and eRegister record of attendance. At exam time, you will also be able to access your personal examination timetable and your results once they are published.

It is essential to access your My Birkbeck Profile on a regular basis and keep your contact details up-to-date, to facilitate communication and access between yourself and the College. Email is the standard means of communication in the School of Arts.

Click here or go to http://www.bbk.ac.uk/mybirkbeck/my-birkbeck-profile to login to your My Birkbeck Profile with your username and password. If you do not have your username and password, please contact ITS Reception in the main Malet Street building or by email at its-helpdesk@bbk.ac.uk.
Fees, Financial Support and Payment Details
College fees may be paid by many methods. Please click here to follow the link to the College website, for the most current information on fees and payment, and here for details on financial support. Whilst we have great sympathy with students who find difficulties in paying their fees, neither the programme director nor any of your tutors have the power to waive fees or sanction delays in payment. For advice and support in relation to paying your fees, please contact the College Income Office. The Income Office deals with all enquiries relating to payment of fees, including direct debit queries. Please communicate and negotiate with the College Fees Office directly if you have any fee-related queries.

Fees Policy 2018/2019
You are strongly encouraged to take a look at the Fees and Payments page on the website and read the current Fees Policy. Refer to these resources to answer questions such as What does fee liability mean? What is the last date I can enrol? and What should I do if I can’t pay my fees? Students who fail to pay their fees may become ineligible to continue the course, unable to submit assessments or access their My Birkbeck Profile. Any student who has a debt to the College at the end of the year will not have their marks relayed to them.

Postgraduate Loans
Please see the Birkbeck website here for helpful information on applying for a postgraduate loan. You can also access the Postgraduate Loans and Enrolment: A Step-by-Step Guide for assistance enrolling onto your programme.

Moodle
Moodle (Birkbeck’s Virtual Learning Environment Platform) is an online student portal. You will be expected to upload and submit all assignment documents using Moodle throughout the duration of your study. You can also use Moodle to access interactive tutorials, lecture slides, reading lists and recorded lectures, career management resources and your personal student record.

It is recommended all students access Moodle Support for Students to become familiar with how to access Moodle and submit coursework online. Please Login to Moodle with your Birkbeck College username and password.

School of Arts Location
The School of Arts is housed at 43 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0PD, where you will find the administrative offices and individual staff offices. Teaching often takes place in our building, but your lectures may be held in any of the University of London or University College London buildings. Please login to your My Birkbeck Profile for access to your student timetable and links to maps of the buildings.
The Administrative Office
Please contact your Programme Administrator by phone or email to discuss any queries or to book an appointment. During term time, the Gordon Square entrance is staffed from 8.00am to 9.00pm, Monday to Friday and is open between 9.00am and 5.00pm on Saturdays (during term time only). Please access the student pigeonholes (located outside room G13) and deliver hardcopy coursework to the essay box by reception, during these times.

Attendance Requirements
Taking a degree course at Birkbeck requires a high level of commitment, and it is important that you attend seminars consistently. Regular attendance is a requirement of every course unit and you will be required to register your attendance each week. It is your responsibility to make sure you sign in using the e-register (see below) at every class you attend. It is accepted that through illness or exceptional pressure at home or at work you may have to miss occasional classes, but if you have to be absent from several classes, or you know that you are going to have difficulties in attending regularly, please inform the Programme Director. We do require notice of intended absence in writing (by email) to your module tutor AND your Programme Administrator.

We are very sympathetic towards the problems encountered by students and we will do all that we can to help you through any difficulties you may have with your studies. Please do signal if you are having problems.

Registering your attendance with eRegisters
The eRegisters system allows students to keep track of and monitor their own attendance at teaching events. In Birkbeck teaching rooms, students will be expected to tap their Birkbeck student ID card onto a card reader at the beginning of each class. Please remember it is your responsibility to bring your Birkbeck ID card to class to monitor your attendance. This is especially important for those of you that are Tier 4 students. For further information on eRegisters please click here.

Programme Student Support
Any matters that students want to discuss that are directly related to the content of the MA should be discussed with the appropriate lecturer. Lecturers will let students know the time and place of their office hours, although you may wish to make an appointment. Email can be a convenient way to do this. Any other matters concerning the course should be taken up with your personal tutor. You will be informed of which member of the course team will act as your personal tutor at the beginning of term. You may discuss medical and pastoral problems in strict confidence.

Student Representation
Each year, we also ask for two student representatives from the MA to represent your concerns to a staff-student committee. These representatives raise issues specific to your experience as an MA Contemporary student at Birkbeck. We’ll ask you to nominate representatives during the autumn term.

Start of Term for New Students
The pre-term general Induction and reception for new English and Humanities students, will be held on Thursday 27 September 2018 from 7.00pm. Further information will be circulated prior to this event.

In the first term all full-time (FT) students and first year part-time (PT) students, will take Core Course 1: Reading the Contemporary. This class will take place on Monday at 6-9pm, commencing on 01 October 2018.

In Week 1, your programme Induction will take place as part of the first class for Reading the Contemporary.

Spring Term: Option Modules
You will be contacted by administrative staff from the English and Humanities department with instructions on how to make your spring option module choice through online module selection. Timetable information on options available in your current academic year will be listed and circulated with the instructions on how to make your choice. You will be asked to list a number of preferred options online, in the event you are not allocated a place onto your first preference option. Please complete your option choices by the deadline specified by your department and note the following:

- Option modules are allocated on a first come, first served basis and places are competitive.
- If you require help with your module choices you should contact your personal tutor.
- Please be aware that modules vary from year to year. If you are a part-time student, you should take into account when you make your module choice that it is unlikely that the same selection of option modules will be available in your second year.

Summer Term: Research Skills Programme and Summer Seminars
Wednesday, 6.00-7.20pm: Research Skills Programme (PT2 and FT) and Summer Seminars (all students).

The Research Skills Programme is a short series of seminars designed to consolidate and extend the research methods already introduced on the course and support you as you work on your dissertation. The Programme is primarily for PT2 and FT students who are working on the dissertation, but PT1 students are permitted to attend.

The Summer Seminars are lectures, discussions, screenings and creative writing events all related to Modern and Contemporary Literature. They will run in the Wednesday 6.00-7.20 slot in weeks 7, 8 and 9. The aim is to provide all MA students with a space in the summer term for you to recover from two intensive terms, yet remain intellectually engaged. The Summer Seminars are provided in addition to the Graduate Lecture Programme of visiting speakers and panels that runs on Thursdays throughout the year, Birkbeck Arts Week (in May 2019) and the other events across the Department, School and University.

Dissertation
A 15 000-word dissertation on any topic from the many areas covered by the MA in Contemporary Literature and Culture is written over the summer. Students meet with their supervisor for close consultation on their topic for three hour-long supervisions on mutually convenient dates. These must be concluded by the final day of the academic year, which is 12 July 2019. The summer is for working on the dissertation and the submission date is 14:00 on Friday 13 September 2019.

Above are the core teachers on the MA Contemporary programme. Teaching and dissertation supervisions are also provided by additional specialists in the Department of English & Humanities.

- Please check office hours with individual staff members. We ask you visit offices only when you have made an appointment. Please ring or email in advance. Staff members are available for tutorials at other times by appointment.
- Staffing is subject to change and listing in this handbook is not a guarantee that a specific staff member will be with the Department in the 2018-19 academic year.
- There is a research leave policy in the College, which means that all members of academic staff are entitled to one term’s research leave every three years. In addition, members of staff are regularly awarded externally funded research leave, by organisations such as the Leverhulme Trust and the Arts and Humanities Research Council. Therefore, not all academic staff will be present at all times. On such occasions the Department will arrange replacement cover and advise the affected students.
Core Course 1: Reading the Contemporary (FT and PT1)

Module Convenor: Dr Sean O'Brien
Module Lecturers: Dr Grace Halden (GH), Dr Sean O'Brien (SO), Dr Joe Brooker (JB), Dr Anna Hartnell (AH), Professor Roger Luckhurst (RL)
Module Code: AREN095S7
Module Level: 7
Timetable: Autumn Term, Mondays 6.00pm – 9.00pm

All sessions involve a lecture (6-7.20) followed by a seminar (7.40-9) with the exception of Week 11, during which the first session (6-7.20) will be taught as a closing lecture and the second session (7.40-9) will consist of a student-led workshop on Researching the Contemporary.

Module Description

This course introduces students to a range of contemporary literary, cinematic, visual and theoretical works published since 2000, tracing some of the major developments in contemporary literatures at the beginning of the twenty-first century. Taking in poetry, film, memoir, journalism, television, the novel, the graphic novel, science fiction and digital culture, this course explores the meanings and characteristics of the ‘contemporary’ via a focus on categories like trauma, crisis, memory, futurity, and the digital – terms that have been major preoccupations of cultural production in the last two decades.

Aims and objectives:

- To provide a comprehensive grounding in some of the key trends and texts in the field of contemporary literature and culture, with a special focus on the post-2000 period.
- To engage students in debates about the conceptualization of the contemporary, and to equip them with the appropriate vocabulary and critical paradigms.
- To identify and engage with the key features and characteristics of new forms of writing that have emerged as a result of new technologies.
- To develop a multidisciplinary approach to the study of contemporary literature and culture.

Coursework and assessment:
Assessed essay: this course is examined by a 5,000 word essay due the first day of the spring term. Please see the handout posted on Moodle for a list of essay questions and submission instructions.
Texts and media that you will need to purchase:

- Beasts of the Southern Wild, dir. Benh Zeitlin (2012) [Film]
- The Expanse, Season 1, Episode 1, ‘Dulcinea’ [TV]
- Mad Max: Fury Road (2015) [Film]
- Westworld, Season 1, Episode 1 ‘The Original’ [TV]
- JJ Abrams’ and Doug Dorst’s S (2013) [Novel]
- Ashley McKenzie, Werewolf (2016) [Film]

Please note: all core reading material that is not listed above – these will usually be short texts, i.e. essays, poems, short stories etc. – will be made available either electronically via Moodle (Birkbeck’s virtual learning environment) or via a handout given out in advance of the relevant class.

All recommended secondary reading is available via the e-journal databases (Project Muse and JSTOR), in Birkbeck Library or Senate House Library; you will also be able to find copies of all texts in the British Library.

Introductory reading on contemporary literature and cultural theory:

• Stuart Hall, Doreen Massey and Michael Rustin, After Neoliberalism? The Kilburn Manifesto, Soundings: http://www.lwbooks.co.uk/journals/soundings/manifesto.html
• Ann Kenniston and Jeanne Follansbee Quinn (eds), Literature After 9/11 (New York: Routledge, 2010)
• Roger Luckhurst, The Trauma Question (London: Routledge, 2008)
• Roger Luckhurst and Peter Marks (eds), Literature and the Contemporary (London: Longman, 1999)
• Rod Mengham (ed.), An Introduction to Contemporary Fiction: International Writing in English since 1970 (Cambridge: Polity, 1999)
• Jago Morrison, Contemporary Fiction (London: Routledge, 2001)
• Nicholas Royle, The Uncanny (Manchester: Manchester University Press, 2003)
• _____, Welcome to the Desert of the Real (London: Verso, 2002)
Seminar Schedule

Week 1 | When was the Contemporary? (SO)
This session introduces the module by opening a debate about the nature of the contemporary: is it primarily a conceptual or a periodizing term? What is the contemporary ‘now’? This introductory class features the creative work of past students from the MA who contributed to the Arts Week event The Contemporary: An Exhibition.

Through a discussion of Beasts of the Southern Wild, this introductory class will also consider the idea that the contemporary world is in some ways ‘post-American’.

Essential viewing / reading:
- Giorgio Agamben, ‘What is the Contemporary?’ in What is an Apparatus? And other Essays (2009)

Week 2 | Retro Action (JB)
The contemporary seems to be about the new. But contemporary cultural production also involves revisiting the past. How does the aesthetic reconstruction of the past contribute to the cultural-temporal mosaic of the contemporary? Are we attracted to the glamour of the past, nostalgic for its certainties, or keen to use it to interrogate the present? How is the past manipulated and remade by the lenses and styles of our contemporary moment?

Essential reading:

The lecture will also refer to the TV series Mad Men (2007-2015), on the 1960s.

Recommended additional/comparative texts:
- 1980s neo-1950s movies: Back To The Future, Peggy Sue Got Married, Absolute Beginners
- post-2000 neo-1980s movies: Donnie Darko, 13 Going on 30, This Is England
- Retro TV: Life on Mars and Ashes To Ashes
Background reading:

- Simon Reynolds, Retromania (London: Faber, 2011): the fullest work to date in this field: if you’re interested in Retro, read this

Week 3 | World-System Failure (SO)

A decade after the 2008 financial crisis, the future of the capitalist world-system remains uncertain, as nation states retreat from international partnerships and the neoliberal consensus appears to be on the wane. The capitalist world-system is also undergoing a profound transition at the very moment that it is increasingly butting up against ecological limits. This session will examine issues of hegemonic transition, climate crisis and economic stagnation in the SYFY television series The Expanse. How does the series mobilize the speculative capacities of science fiction to explore the prospects for further expansion of the capitalist world-system? Students should familiarize themselves with the pilot episode, ‘Dulcinea’.

Essential reading:

- Mark Fergus and Hawk Ostby, ‘Dulcinea,’ The Expanse (SYFY and Alcon Entertainment, 2015–).

Background reading:
• Andrew Milner, Locating Science Fiction (Liverpool University Press, 2012).

Week 4 | Entering the Anthropocene (RL)
This session explores the current trend in post-apocalyptic fiction and its various projections of social and environmental collapse. It examines the category of the Anthropocene in the context of neoliberalism and climate change, and with regards to the notion of the post-human and the role of science fiction.
Essential reading / viewing:
- Mad Max: Fury Road (2015)
- Paolo Bacigalupi’s ‘Pump Six’ (to be placed on Moodle)

Suggested reading:
- Paul Crutzen and Eugene Stoermer, ‘The “Anthropocene”’, Global Change Newsletter 41 (2000), 17-18 (text that coins the term: available online)
- Jeremy Davies, opening chapter of The Birth of the Anthropocene (Berkeley: University of California Press, 2016) (copy provided)

Week 5 | Being Human 2.0 (GH)
What does it mean to be human in the 21st Century? How can we define the human? How can we define the ‘non human’? This session explores how developments such as bio objectification and artificial general intelligence (to name just two) call into question what it means to be human. Is this a new question? How can the human be viewed historically? Has Web 2.0 and developments unique to the 21st Century further problematized a term, that has always been pressurized?

Essential reading:
- Westworld, Season 1, Episode 1 ‘The Original’

Background reading:
- Baxi, Upendra, Human Rights in a Posthuman World: Critical Essays (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2007);

Week 6 | Reading Week – no class
Week 7 | Blackness and Antiblackness (SO)
This session reads Claudia Rankine’s Citizen: An American Lyric in the context of systemic antiblack violence, the rise of Black Lives Matter and the Movement for Black Lives, and new theories of racialization and Blackness. We will focus in particular on the way in which Citizen combines genres of prose, poetry and visual imagery in its depictions of police killings of African Americans and racist micro-aggressions. This session will also refer to recent work in Black Studies on the legacies of slavery and the concept of social death in our discussion of Rankine’s timely and genre-blending bestseller.

Essential Reading:

Background Reading:
- Orlando Patterson, Slavery and Social Death: A Comparative Study (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1982).
Week 8 | The Aesthetic of Bookishness in the Digital Age (GH)
This session will explore the way in which a growing corpus of twenty-first-century novels are responding to their digital contexts. Today, the printed novel competes with a wide range of entertainment and art forms – most notably, cinematic releases, the long-form series of ‘quality’ TV shows, computer games franchises, fan fiction and online commentary and journalism, as well as graphic novels and literary collaborations and installations. Digital media thus present a fresh challenge to the traditional literary novel in its printed codex form.

We will consider the way in which J.J. Abrams’ and Doug Dorst’s S (2013), in company with Mark Z. Danielewski’s earlier cult novel House of Leaves (2000), Steven Hall’s The Raw Shark Texts (2007) and Jonathan Safran Foer’s Tree of Codes (2010), draws on a historical traditional of avant-garde literary experimentation to blur the boundaries between printed book, art object, and digitally-engaged hypertext.

The lecture will offer some background context in the interdisciplinary theoretical frameworks required to read such hypertextual fictions – whose organisation of text demand complex forms of attention on the part of the reader. The way in which such texts are received, read, and engaged with in online forums and fan sites suggests an interesting congruence of the possibilities afforded by new digital forms of communication with a tradition of aesthetic experimentation that long predates the internet.

Essential reading:
• JJ Abrams’ and Doug Dorst’s S (2013)
• Jessica Pressman, ‘The Aesthetic of Bookishness in Twenty-First-Century Literature,’ Michigan Quarterly Review, Vol. 48, No. 4 (2013) [available online: http://quod.lib.umich.edu/cgi/t/text/text-idx?cc=mqr;c=mqr;c=mqrarchive;idno=act2080.0048.402;view=text;rgn=main;xc=1;g=mqr]

Background reading:

• Matthew K. Gold (ed.), Debates in the Digital Humanities (Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press, 2012)

Week 9 | Networks Beyond the Nation (AH)

This session will explore the meanings of postcoloniality, diaspora and globalization in the contemporary world, particularly as they relate to the vectors of race and class. It will map these categories via a reflection on Caryl Phillips’s The Atlantic Sound, a meditation on the afterlife of the transatlantic slave trade. This text combines travel writing, memoir and journalism, in order to represent the experiences of forced and self-imposed exile.
Essential reading:

Background reading:

Week 10 | The Art of Dying: Graphic Novels and ‘The End’ (GH)
This session will open with a lecture, which examines how the idea of the ‘end’ is presented in twenty-first-century writing with reference to both personal tragedy as well as wider historical and literary ideas of apocalypse. Why is it important to view ‘the end’ and is graphic narrative an ideal medium to do this? Looking at historical context we start with excerpts from the manga Barefoot Gem from the 1970s and move on to discuss texts including The Walking Dead and DIES IRAE.

Week 11 | Superfluous Life: Precarity and Representation (SO)
What does it mean to speak of a precarious present? In the opening decades of the twenty-first century, work has become increasingly precarious. But precarity reaches beyond the gig economy to saturate the entirety of contemporary capitalist societies. This session will explore the social forms precarity takes in Ashley McKenzie’s debut film, Werewolf, from drug addiction and precarious employment to the gendered labour of crisis management. We will approach precarity as a problem for representation— noting how its subjective appearance takes on forms of disposability, superfluity and waste—in order to ask how contemporary cinematic realism responds to this representational challenge.

Core Course 2: Post-War to Contemporary (FT and PT2)

Module Code: ENHU050S7
Timetable: Autumn Term, Thursdays, 6.00pm
Module Convenor: Professor Roger Luckhurst
Seminar Leaders: Professor Roger Luckhurst r.luckhurst@bbk.ac.uk, Dr Mpalive Msiska m.msiska@bbk.ac.uk and Dr Hallvard Haug

Learning Aims and Outcomes
By the end of the course, students should:

- Form an understanding of the relations between literature and cultural history in the post-war period
- Develop the ability to read texts closely and consider the specific textual strategies employed by different writers
- Engage with ideas of ‘the contemporary’ as a period and concept.

Morrison, Jago, Contemporary Literature (London: Routledge, 2001)

Assessment
Assessment is by one essay of 5000 words, to be handed in on 14:00 Monday 14 January 2019.

Detailed Course Outline

WEEK 1
6: Introduction to the module: Framing the Postwar (6-7:20) (RL)
In a first workshop session, we will discuss the themes and scope of the course. We will consider ways of reading post-war literature (in terms of literary form, historical context, and prevailing theories of culture such as postmodernism), and explore issues of periodization – how do we carve up the time of cultural history? What are the implications of thinking in decades? Should we consider post-war history in terms of key moments and conjunctures?

WEEK 2
6-7:20 Lecture: Late Modernism (RL)
This lecture will develop the discussion from the previous week, asking how the idea of 'late modernism' fits into our narratives of C20 literature and our ideas of period and conjuncture. The lecture will also point forward to the first seminar, the same evening, on the fiction of Samuel Beckett. (For background reading for this lecture, see the list of General Background above, as well as the Beckett material listed below.)

7:40-9:00 Seminar: Post-War Beckett
- Samuel Beckett, First Love and Three Novellas (Penguin)

Beckett’s extraordinary fiction offers a fragile bridge from the era of modernism to the landscape of post-war culture. What relation does it have to modernism, like that of his mentor James Joyce? Does his fictional scenery reflect an actual post-war landscape? We will explore the fate of the fictional self, the use of monologue, and the effects of comedy.

Background Reading
Adorno, Theodor, Aesthetic Theory (London: Athlone, 1997)
Salisbury, Laura, Samuel Beckett: Laughing Matters, Comic Timing (Edinburgh UP, 2015)

WEEK 3
6-7:20 Seminar: British Poetry in the 1950s
- Philip Larkin, The Less Deceived (1955) [use Collected Poems]. We will aim to look in particular at ‘Wires’, ‘Church Going’, ‘Reasons for Attendance’ and ‘At Grass’, but try to read widely in the collection.

In this seminar we consider an emblematic British poet of the 1950s: Philip Larkin. We will read a small number of Larkin’s poems closely and seek to establish how his formal techniques relate to his views of poetry and culture.

Secondary Reading
Booth, James, ed., New Larkins for Old (Basingstoke: Macmillan, 1999)

7:40-9 Lecture: The Post-War Transnational

- See also George Lamming’s cultural/critical essays in The Pleasures of Exile (1960; London: Pluto, 2005).

Reading:

WEEK 4

6-7:20 Seminar: The 1960s: Counter Culture

Pynchon’s novel gives us a chance to consider the vitality of American writing in this period. In what ways is Lot 49 a novel of the 1960s; what vision of that decade’s culture and politics does it offer? Does the book show continuities with modernist writing, or is something new beginning here?

1960s Background: General

Theoretical

Foster, Hal, ’What’s Neo about the Neo-Avant-Garde?’, October 70 (1994)

Specific

Grant, J. Kerry, A Companion to ‘The Crying of Lot 49’ (Georgia UP, 1994)
Knight, Peter, Conspiracy Culture: From Kennedy to the X Files (London: Routledge, 2000)

7:40-9: Lecture: The Nature of the Disaster in Postwar Science Fiction (JB)
Science Fiction exists outside the 'mainstream' of literature, but it has been an important space for exploring ideas of identity in the postwar period. In this lecture Dr Joe Brooker discusses how postwar SF has explored concepts of race, ethnicity and otherness.

Primary Reading (both available on Moodle):
Judith Merril, ‘That Only a Mother’ (1948) and Both are also in the Wesleyan Anthology of Science Fiction, ed. Art B. Evans et al. (Wesleyan University Press, 2010).

Secondary Reading:
WEEK 5
6-7.20 Seminar: 1970s Dissensus
- Angela Carter, The Passion of New Eve (1977)

In the 1970s, new cracks emerged in British society’s post-war consensus. Carter’s novel draws on science fiction to traverse this time of tremors. We will explore her fictional strategies, her representation of America, and her allegories of gender and sexual politics in the era of second wave feminism.

Background Reading: General
Miller, Stephen Paul, The Seventies Now: Culture As Surveillance (Durham, NC: Duke University Press, 1999). This is about American culture, but useful nonetheless.

Theoretical
Butler, Judith, Gender Trouble: Feminism and the Subversion of Identity (London: Routledge, 1992)
Garber, Marjorie, Vested Interests: Cross-Dressing and Cultural Anxiety (London: Routledge, 1992)
Moi, Toril, Sexual/Textual Politics: Feminist Literary Theory (London: Routledge, 1985)
Segal, Lynne, Why Feminism? Gender, Psychology, Politics (Oxford: Polity, 1999)

Specific
Carter, Angela, The Sadeian Woman (London: Virago, 1979)
--- Nothing Sacred: Selected Writings (London: Virago, 1982). See particularly the ‘Scream and Dream’ sections, and ‘Lorenzo the Closet-Queen’.
Stoddart, Helen, Angela Carter’s ‘Nights at the Circus’ (London: Routledge, 2006).

7.40-9.00 LECTURE – Reading the 1970s (RL)
Watch at least one episode of the BBC series, The Rise and Fall of Reginald Perrin, preferably ep 1, season 1 (1976)

Short stories: M. John Harrison, ‘Running Down’ and Ian McEwan, ‘The Last of Summer’ (both on Moodle)

Secondary Reading

WEEK 6: READING WEEK

WEEK 7

6-7:20 Seminar: High Postmodernism

The 1980s were perhaps the central period for theoretical discussions of the concept of postmodernism. In our two sessions tonight we will look at two major instances of this cultural development which extend our consideration of US culture in week 4. We start with Don DeLillo’s novel White Noise, then consider Fredric Jameson’s celebrated essay on postmodernism from the same year.

Background Reading

Boxall, Peter, Don DeLillo: The possibility of fiction (London: Routledge, 2006)

7:40-9: Lecture: Situating Postmodernism (RL)
Fredric Jameson, ‘Postmodernism, or the Cultural Logic of Late Capitalism’ (either New Left Review 1984 or chapter one of Postmodernism, or the Cultural Logic of Late Capitalism [London: Verso, 1991]).

Fredric Jameson’s essay of 1984 has been among the most widely cited of the last two decades. It is reprinted as the first chapter of his 1991 volume: read this chapter, but the whole book is recommended. This lecture will aim to come to terms with this influential attempt to define the contemporary world as ‘postmodern’, and to situate it in intellectual and cultural history.

Background and Commentary

WEEK 8

6-7:20 Seminar: Thatcherism and Cultural Protest

- Tony Harrison, v. (1985) (in his Selected or Collected Poetry, but the separate edition has press coverage about the controversy)
- Films: please watch My Beautiful Laundrette (dir. Stephen Frears, written by Hanif Kureishi 1985) and we will also talk about Handsworth Songs (the Black Audio Film collective, 1986 – a 15 minute short). You can see clips of this on BFI Screenonline at http://www.screenonline.org.uk/film/id/441093/index.html

In Britain the Thatcher era brought radical change, and also inspired many cultural responses across different genres. We’ll look at Tony Harrison’s modern epic v. as a poem responding to an apparent crisis in the post-war social consensus, and think about the role of cinema in the 1980s as a site of cultural resistance.

Background Reading

Hall, Stuart and Martin Jacques (eds.), The Politics of Thatcherism (London: Lawrence and Wishart, 1983)

Specific

7:40-9: Lecture: Diasporic Writing (MM)
- Aminatta Forna, The Memory of Love (2011)

This lecture will place Forna’s novel in the context of debates over identity, exile and transnational connections.

Background Reading
Bhabha, Homi, The Location of Culture (London: Routledge, 1994).

Specific Reading

WEEK 9
6-7:20 Seminar: Comic Books
- Alison Bechdel, Fun Home (2006)

In recent years, comic books or graphic novels have received increasing attention in studies of the contemporary writing. What possibilities does this form present? What models of reading and analysis does it require? We will look closely at a celebrated instance of the genre which also engages with questions of sexuality, history and modernism.

Hatfield, Charles, Alternative Comics: An Emerging Literature (Jackson, MA: University Press of Mississippi, 2005)

7:40-9 Lecture: Globalization, Migration, and the Refugee (TBC)

In this lecture, we will look at the emergence of the refugee as a primary figure of the crisis of globalization in the 21st century.

- Breach by Olumide Popoola and Annie Holmes (London: Peireine Press, 2016) – selected short stories, which will be available on Moodle

Secondary Reading
Agnes Woolley 'Narrating the “Asylum Story”: Between Literary and Legal Storytelling', Interventions, 19:3 (2017), 376-394

WEEK 10
6:30-7:20 Seminar: Contemporary Fiction
- Colson Whitehead, The Underground Railroad
Whitehead won the Pulitzer Prize in 2017 for this genre-busting novel.

Background reading
Coates, Ta-Nehisi, Between the World and Me (New York: Text, 2015)

7:40-9 Dissertation Planning Session (RL)
In this session we will discuss the dissertation which all students on Core 2 will produce in Summer 2017. We’ll aim to demystify the process and to get you talking about your ideas, and to make connections between your potential projects.

WEEK 11
6:30-7:30: Round Table: Locating the Contemporary
A discussion of contemporary literature featuring members of staff in the department of English & Humanities.

On the Contemporary
Connor, Steven ‘The Impossibility of the Present, or, From Contemporary to Contemporal’ in Luckhurst and Marks (eds.), Literature and the Contemporary (London: Longman, 1999).

Spring Option Modules

IMPORTANT INFORMATION:
The timetable below lists spring options on offer in the 2018-19 academic year on the MA Contemporary Literature and Culture programme. To make your module selection you need to be invited to enrol on the programme. All enrolled students will be sent instructions and a live link to the online module selection system to make their selection.

Please complete your selection as soon as possible, remembering that we offer places on a first-come, first-served basis, as our modules are capped and places are competitive. You will be asked to list a number of preferred options, in the event you are not allocated a place onto your first preference option.

The options listed here are those taught by core staff connected with the MA Contemporary Literature, MA Modern and MA Cultural and Critical Studies programmes, in addition to options from MA programmes outside the English and Humanities department.

Full module break downs for options and readings lists for the current academic year will be available on Moodle prior to the spring term. Some information provided below contains indicative reading. Once your module choices are confirmed, you will be able to access all updated materials on Moodle for your spring course. Please wait for updated reading lists at this time before purchasing texts in advance.

Please note, modules can be subject to change or withdrawal due to staff leave and module uptake. Module convenors are subject to change and those not confirmed for 2018-19 are listed as TBC below.

Summer Term

Dissertation - MA Contemporary Literature and Culture (FT and PT2)
Module Code: AREN145D7

FT and PT2 students will have their first advisory session in the autumn term, a second advisory session in spring term 2019 in advance of the submission of the proposal form, and their first research skills session early in the summer term. We aim to provide plenty of support for this element of the degree, but here’s what you need to know now.

In the summer term, you are also expected to attend the research skills dissertation workshops in weeks 2, 3, and 4 and also required to give a presentation on your research project, either in week 10 or 11.

- The dissertation constitutes 33% of your final mark.
- You are required to offer a presentation on your work, but this will not count towards your final mark.
- The dissertation should number 15 000 words. This excludes the bibliography, but includes footnotes or endnotes.

For PT2 and FT students, it must be submitted by 14:00 midday on Friday 13 of September 2019. This deadline is not negotiable. If you miss the deadline you will have to wait another twelve months before being awarded your degree, because the exam board meets only once a year.

Supervision Process
The dissertation proposal form is in the Appendices section of this booklet. You’ll be asked to submit this via turnitin assignment on Moodle. There is nothing official about the outline you provide us, and we don’t expect a perfectly conceived project. However, it is on the basis of this outline that you will be assigned a supervisor, so it is important that you have a sense of a topic by this point, so that you can begin meeting your supervisor from the beginning of the summer term. We will try to align your work with the most suitable person on the staff, where this is possible. You may wish to approach members of staff (including personal tutors and course tutors) for advice or discussion about the potential of possible projects well before this date. It is good to start thinking about the dissertation relatively early.

The MA director will inform students of their supervisors by the beginning of the summer term. It’s up to the student to contact tutors to arrange a first meeting. Students and supervisors should then arrange a further two supervisions (three in all), each one hour long, which must be completed by 12 July 2019.
In the course of these meetings supervisors may be asked to comment on plans or on drafts of part of the dissertation. Your supervisor may help you to clarify your main thesis; aid you in shaping your thoughts into an appropriate scale; suggest further reading or lines of library research; advise you on methods of research. It is advisable to pencil in the future meeting dates at your first meeting.

Summer Term Research Skills Classes

Dedicated research skills workshops led by core staff will be held on Wednesdays in the summer term, 6-7.30pm, starting on 01 May. We pool the students starting supervisions from the MA Contemporary, the MA Modern and the MA Critical and Cultural Studies for the workshops.

Week 1: MA Contemporary will meet as group together.
Week 2: Dissertation Workshop (Peter Fifield)
Week 3: Dissertation Workshop (Joe Brooker)
Week 4: Dissertation Workshop (Grace Halden)

We then reconvene at the end of term, back in smaller core of MAs for students to offer short presentations (5-10 minutes) on their work with the MA convenor as chair of the event. This exercise is a requirement.

Week 10: Dissertation Presentations by MA students
Week 11: Dissertation Presentations by MA students

Bibliography for Dissertation Writing Skills:
Many books and online resources advise on managing dissertations and longer essays. Here is a list of some that may be helpful:

Dissertation Format

Take a while to think about the presentation of your dissertation. Make your work easily identifiable and easy on the eye for the reader. Always ensure your work is double spaced and with an easily readable font.

Pagination
All pages, except the title page, should be numbered.

Left margin
Provide a bit of extra space for the left margin throughout, particularly as we'll ask you to bind the hard copies, and this takes up a bit more space on the left hand side of the page.

Title Page
You should give the title for your dissertation on a separate page. The following is recommended as a format:

Title and name in the middle of the page

At bottom of the page ‘Submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the MA in Contemporary Literature and Culture, Birkbeck College, University of London’ followed by the month and year of submission.
Abstract
You should preface your dissertation with a 300-word abstract, which describes succinctly the scope and argument of the dissertation. This is required. It helps us identify two markers, but is also a good exercise for students in making sure that they can crisply sum up their thesis.

Bibliography
All dissertations should include a full bibliography listing all the primary and secondary sources you have cited.

Word Limit
The word limit is 15 000 words, excluding titles, diagrams and tables and bibliography. Footnotes are included in the word limit. Where possible, try to avoid extensive footnotes, and keep them largely referential.

Referencing
In your essays and your dissertation you must use a proper system of referencing. The Department of English & Humanities has adopted the MHRA style in all its programmes. Full details are given in the MHRA Style Guide: A Handbook for Authors, Editors, and Writers of Theses (London: Modern Humanities Research Association), which can be consulted in libraries, or bought in reference sections of good bookshops. It can also be downloaded from http://mhra.org.uk/publications/books/styleguide/styleguideV1.pdf.

Binding
We advise that for the hard copies you submit you get them bound. Most stationers, such as Rymans, offer binding services which can usually be done on the spot. Ring-binding is fine. Please don’t spend vast amounts using academic binderies! We merely want these pages bound together more robustly than a staple, as they’ll be read by two internal readers, and possibly sent off to a third, external reader, so they need to survive these journeys.

2) Summer Term Seminar Programme (FOR ALL STUDENTS FT, PT1 AND PT2)

Extra Lecture/Seminars, Weeks 1, 7, 8, and 9 – all students welcome

There is a window of opportunity for a small cluster of free-form classes in the summer term, since the compulsory elements of cores and options are over. These are optional classes, but they are a chance for students to come to an agreement about an extra area of study they want to pursue through a series of staff-led lectures/seminars. They also give PT1 students a cluster of extra classes, to maintain the structure of study in the summer term. MA convenors for the Contemporary, Modern and Cultural Critical MAs will gather suggestions from students in Week 1 of summer term (01 May), then set a small amount of reading for the lectures in week 7, 8, 9. Staff leading the seminars will depend on the topics chosen!

For PT1 students, we aim to provide Core 2 reading lists as early as possible in the term to enable PT1 students to get on with reading ahead for the autumn term.
Assessment Information

MA Assessment

The dissertation counts for: 33%
The four essays count for: 67%

(All students submit four essays: two core course essays and two option essays)

For a distinction to be awarded, the numerical average of the dissertation and the four essays must be at distinction level (70 or above).

For a merit to be awarded, the numerical average of the dissertation and the four essays must be at merit level (60-69).

For a pass to be awarded, the numerical average of the dissertation and the four essays must be at pass level (50-59).

Students are entitled to make one attempt, per piece of coursework, to make good failed essays. Resubmission must take place by the next coursework deadline following the return of the failed piece of coursework to the student (e.g. Autumn term essays submitted in January must be resubmitted by the April deadline or on a date agreed with the programme director). Standard coursework deadline dates, each year, are:

- First Monday of Spring term
- First Monday of Summer term
- Second Friday of September

Progression on the Programme is dependent upon making good all Fail marks. Full-time students should note that, where they obtain Fail marks, the MA cannot be completed in one year.

Resubmitted work will normally consist of a second attempt at the same topic.

Students are entitled to resubmit a failed MA dissertation on one occasion only. An extension of up to one year may be granted for resubmission. Students must pass the dissertation in order to pass the degree programme.

Students who fail two pieces of coursework must suspend their studies until they have made good at least one of the failed essays.

The essays and dissertations are double-marked, and overseen by an external examiner.

Please note that all marks remain provisional until ratified by the External Examiner at the Exam Board in November of the year of finalising.

See below for Grade-Related Criteria.
Grade-Related Criteria

These are the criteria assessors and the exam board apply when marking your essays and dissertations.

To be awarded a PASS at MA level the essay or dissertation should normally:
- Present a reasonably clear argument with some level of detail;
- Show a fair ability to marshal evidence, even if this is not quite sustained throughout the essay;
- Display a reasonably thorough knowledge of the relevant primary sources and texts;
- Demonstrate a fair grasp of a reasonable range of secondary literature relevant to the essay topic;
- To some extent situate the topic in hand within a broader historical and/or intellectual context;
- Use appropriate scholarly conventions relating to presentation;
- Be adequately documented, with footnotes or endnotes, and a Bibliography that reveals engagement with relevant primary and secondary texts.

To be awarded a MERIT at MA level the essay or dissertation should normally:
- Present a clear and detailed argument;
- Marshal a large body of evidence confidently and clearly throughout the essay;
- Display a thorough knowledge of the relevant primary sources and texts;
- Demonstrate a good grasp of a range of secondary literature relevant to the essay topic, including recent work in the field, and be able to engage with as well as rehearse current or recent debates on the topic in hand;
- Effectively situate the essay topic within a broader historical and/or intellectual context;
- Be very well written throughout;
- Be presented in a proper scholarly fashion throughout;
- Be well documented, with footnotes or endnotes, and a full Bibliography that reveals engagement with relevant and recent primary and secondary texts.

To be awarded a DISTINCTION at MA level the essay or dissertation should normally:
- Fulfil all the criteria of a MERIT essay and, additionally:
- Show a level of intellectual ambition beyond what is required for a MERIT mark;
- Display some evidence of originality in the selection of and/or interpretation of primary sources;
- Have a wide range of reference, beyond what is required for a MERIT mark.
Assessment

All essays are double marked, that is, they are marked by two members of staff. Essays are returned to students with a set of comments and a mark. This mark has been agreed by two internal markers. Marks remain unconfirmed until the exam board, which takes place in November. A selection of students' work is seen by our external examiners, who are the final adjudicators of assessed work. Once marks have been agreed by the exam board they cannot be altered. The exam board will take into account any mitigating circumstances that have been accepted, confidentially, by the Sub-Board, and makes decisions about penalties for late or missing work.

Plagiarism

Plagiarism, the act of taking somebody else's work and presenting it as your own, is an act of academic dishonesty, and Birkbeck takes it very seriously.

Examples of plagiarism include (but are not restricted to):

- copying the whole or substantial parts of a paper from a source text (e.g. a web site, journal article, book or encyclopaedia), without proper acknowledgement
- paraphrasing another's piece of work closely, with minor changes but with the essential meaning, form and/or progression of ideas maintained
- piecing together sections of the work of others into a new whole
- procuring a paper from a company or essay bank (including Internet sites)
- submitting another student's work, with or without that student's knowledge
- submitting a paper written by someone else (e.g. a peer or relative) and passing it off as one's own
- representing a piece of joint or group work as one's own.

If you knowingly assist another student to plagiarise (for example, by willingly giving them your own work to copy from), you are committing an examination offence.

What happens if plagiarism is suspected?
The College operates a three stage policy for dealing with assessment offences. The first stage allows for a very rapid and local determination for first or minor and uncontested offences. Stage two allows for a formal Department investigation, where a student wishes to contest the allegation or penalty, where there is an allegation of a repeat offence or for more serious cases. Stage three involves a centrally convened panel for third and serious offences, dealt with under the code of Student Discipline.

What if I am worried that I'm not referencing correctly?
Please see your module tutor or contact a member of the learning support team as soon as possible.

Please refer to the Birkbeck website for updated information on assessment offences here: http://www.bbk.ac.uk/student-services/exams/assessment-offences

Please access the assessment offences policy here:
Collusion

Like plagiarism, ‘collusion’ is an assessment offence. Any piece of writing you submit must be your own work. In the humanities, the way you structure your argument and express yourself is an inherent part of producing work of the required standard, and you will be judged on that, so it is not acceptable to get an inappropriate level of help in this area.

You may ask friends, family or fellow students to proof-read your work and offer advice on punctuation, grammar, and presentational issues, but it is not acceptable for someone else to come up with your arguments for you, or to re-write a draft you have produced.

If your first language is not English, you may find your written work a challenge initially, and it is acceptable to ask someone to look over your work and give you advice on punctuation, grammar and phrasing. However, that advice must be minimal and the argument and structure of any assessment must be your own work, and written in your own words.

It is unacceptable to pay someone to write (or re-write) your essays for you and if you are discovered to have done so, you risk expulsion from the programme. The College and the School of Arts have a range of services in place to help you improve your academic writing, so if you are concerned at all and would like some additional support, you should contact your personal tutor or the Programme Director.

Essay Guidelines and Advice: Coursework Submission, Return of Coursework and Late Submissions

Essays
Essays should be 5,000 words long (with the exception of MA Creative Writing components; word length for each as stated in module syllabus). Please note that excessively over- or under-length essays will be penalised. Also, please be aware of the university regulations against plagiarism and duplication of your own work (i.e. there should be no overlap between this essay and material presented for assessment elsewhere in this course or in another module). Please ensure that your essay follows the style of referencing outlined in the MHRA stylebook. This is available on the web at: http://mhra.org.uk/publications/books/styleguide/styleguideV1.pdf.

General
Students sometimes ask if they may write on an author who does not write in English. The bibliographies of a number of our modules include works in translation, especially contextual and theoretical works, and it is fine to discuss these in essays and the dissertation. However, the primary source material of assessed work should normally have been written in English. If you have a strong reason for wanting to write on an author who does not write in English, you should discuss this with the course convenor. Factors relevant to the choice of primary material for essays and the dissertation include whether you will be able to obtain the relevant secondary materials in the libraries open to you, and whether the module convenor is able to evaluate the work properly. Material by foreign language authors must be available in translation.

It may be that your course tutor issues a list of questions, one of which you must answer in your essay. In other cases, your tutor may encourage you to devise your own question. In any case, your essay must be relevant to the course you have taken, in terms of both subject-matter and approach. If you are in doubt as to whether what you want to write is relevant, you should discuss it with your course tutor. It is a good idea to take notes on this discussion, write a brief note recording it and share it with your tutor, so that you both have a clear, written idea of what your intentions are regarding your essay.

The criteria we normally use for making judgements about the range of assessed work, and their relation to the categories of Pass, Merit and Distinction, are set out formally in the Grade Criteria document above. It acts as a summation of our expectations, and should not be regarded as a check list but as useful guidance.
Submission of coursework
Please note: If you are taking options from other Departments/Schools different procedures may apply. Please check with the relevant Department/School before submitting your essay.

All work should normally be computer-generated (using a format compatible with Microsoft Word, and not a pdf or similar) unless you are told explicitly that an assignment may be hand-written. All work should be submitted double-spaced. Please note that the word count should include footnotes but excludes the bibliography.

Put your name and/or student ID number and the title of the module at the top of the essay, and include the title of the essay or the question as set out on the list of essay topics. Word count should be indicated at the end of the essay.

You may exceptionally, in addition to electronic submission via Moodle, be asked to submit a paper copy. You should also always retain a copy yourself.

Paper copies of coursework, if requested by the tutor, should be stapled in the top left-hand corner, with a completed coversheet forming the top page. The Coursework Cover Sheet is available to download from the Birkbeck College website at http://www.bbk.ac.uk/arts/about-us/coversheets-for-coursework-submission.

The paper copy with attached coversheet should be deposited in the coursework submission letterbox in the reception of 43 Gordon Square. Please follow the instructions for each assignment carefully as procedures may differ for modules run by other Departments in the School of Arts. Always check with your convenor if you are not sure. For example, if you are asked to submit a hard copy and do not do so, your work may not be marked.

Please note that electronic submission is normally required by 14:00 (2pm) on the day of the deadline with hard copies (if requested) due by 6pm on the same day. Any delay in the submission of a hard copy must be discussed in advance with the module tutor. Failure to submit a hard copy when requested, or any discrepancies between the hard copy and the copy submitted via turnitin, may result in failure of the module.

Please also note that we require electronic submission of your work for the following reasons:

- Some work will be marked online via Turnitin;
- Electronic submission is essential for purposes of moderation (second marking and External Examiner scrutiny);
- All work submitted online is automatically screened for plagiarism;
- We are required to retain a copy of all student work for up to five years after graduation.
For further information and instructions on how to submit essays using Moodle, please see Appendix A or visit the ITS Help Desk in Malet Street building.

Return of Coursework
Coursework will usually be marked and returned electronically within 4 weeks from the stated submission date or the date of handing in. Larger modules and modules with numerous seminar groups, such as core modules, could take longer due to the number of students involved. There may also be a delay if the college is closed or if there are extended holidays during that 4 week period.

Essays are never sent back to students by post. If online submission/return has not been used, your lecturer will advise the method by which your work will be returned – normally via the student pigeonholes at outside room G13, 43 Gordon Square. Your administrator will email you to let you know when coursework has been marked. Please do not phone or email to ask whether your essay has been marked unless the marking period has elapsed.

Late Submission of Coursework
All Schools and Departments across the College have moved to a system whereby students are not permitted to ask for extensions to coursework deadlines. If for some reason you are unable to submit a piece of work by the stipulated deadline, you should complete a Mitigating Circumstances form, which you can download here.

This form gives you space to describe the circumstances that have prevented you from meeting the deadline, and requires you to provide supporting evidence (such as a medical certificate). It is advisable to discuss the situation with your personal tutor before submitting the form.

Mitigating Circumstances forms should be emailed to the course administrator or handed in to the Department office at least 7 days before the deadline that is going to be missed. If this is impossible (e.g. if adverse circumstances arise closer to the deadline), then the form should be submitted at the earliest opportunity.

When you receive a late submitted piece of assessed work back from the markers, you will find that you have been awarded two grades: a penalty mark of 50% LP (late pass) for postgraduate students, assuming it is of a pass standard, and the ‘real’ mark that would have been awarded if the work had not been late. When the Mitigating Circumstances Sub-Board has met and considered your form, you will be told which of these marks will stand. If your claim has been accepted, the essay will receive the grade it has been deemed worth. If your claim is rejected, you will receive the LP mark.
Please note that Mitigating Circumstances Sub-Board will normally meet two weeks before the final exam board and claims will not be processed until then. Please see the Birkbeck College website for further details on Mitigating Circumstances.

Note: If you are taking an option within another School please note that you will need to adhere to the deadline/extension policy of the School in which the option course is based.

Dissertations
It is particularly important to submit dissertations on the deadline date. This deadline is not negotiable. If missed, the candidate may not be examined in the same year and may have to wait another twelve months before being awarded the degree as MA examination boards meet only once a year, in November. Any difficulty in meeting the dissertation deadline should be brought to the attention of the Programme Director at the earliest opportunity.

Style Guide

Writing essays at graduate level demands a more rigorous and scholarly attention to detail than undergraduate essays: you must fully reference all sources, and do so in a systematic and coherent way. You will see a number of systems of reference in books and journals. The Department of English & Humanities advocates use of the MHRA style described below, with information taken from the MHRA Style Guide (London: Modern Humanities Research Association, 2004), which should be consulted for further explanation. Libraries hold copies of this style guide, and you can buy it in good bookshops (including Waterstones, Gower Street). It can also be downloaded for personal use from:

Please try to get into the swing of using this system consistently as early as possible; this will make writing the dissertation easier. It also means that every time you read an article you should take a note of its author, title, journal volume number/date and inclusive page numbers (or, with books, its place of publication and publisher). This will avoid the tedious business of having to go back to the library to scrabble around for the essays you’ve read in the distant past minutes before the deadline expires.

One final word: don’t worry if this looks completely impenetrable to you at first—referencing is a discipline which takes time to learn.

Titles in the essay text:
Italics, or underlinings (use one or other, not both), are used for the titles of all works individually published under their own titles: books, journals, plays, longer poems, pamphlets, and any other entire published works. The titles of chapters in books or of articles in journals should be enclosed within single quotation marks. The titles of poems or essays which form part of a larger volume or other whole, or the first lines of poems used as titles, should also be given in single quotation marks:

Titles of films, substantial musical compositions, and works of art are italicised. Titles of songs and other short individual pieces are enclosed within single quotation marks.

Quotations:
Short quotations (not more than about forty words of prose or two complete lines of verse) should be enclosed in single quotation marks and run on with the main text. If not more than two complete lines of verse are quoted but the quotation includes a line division, this should be marked with a spaced upright stroke (/). For a quotation within a quotation, double quotation marks should be used:

Mrs Grose replies that ‘Master Miles only said “We must do nothing but what she likes!”’.
If a short quotation is used within a sentence, the final full point should be outside the closing quotation mark; it may also be appropriate to alter the initial capital in such a quotation to lower case:

Do not be afraid of what Stevenson calls ‘a little judicious levity’.

Long quotations (more than about forty words of prose, prose quotations consisting of more than one paragraph even if less than forty words, and verse quotations of more than two lines) should be broken off by an increased space from the preceding and following lines of typescript, and indented an inch (normal new paragraphs of text should always be indented half an inch). They should not be enclosed within quotation marks. Long quotations should normally end with a full point; even though the original may use other punctuation, there is no need (except for a question mark or exclamation mark) to preserve this at the end of a quotation. Omissions within prose quotations should be marked by an ellipsis (three points within square brackets: […]). Omitted lines of verse should be marked by an ellipsis on a separate line.

References:
When you include material in your essay that you have drawn from another work, either from a literary text or from another critic, you must provide a footnote or endnote that gives the details of your source. All quotations, therefore, will be accompanied by a note, but so will any information you include that you have learned from the essays, articles, history books, reference works and electronic resources you might have read for your essay. Your marker will want to know what you have consulted for information, and will sometimes want to look at the source themselves. But the even more important reason for citing sources is that failure to provide full details of sources constitutes an act of plagiarism, it suggests that you are passing off someone else’s work as your own, and this offence carries severe penalties that may lead to your expulsion from the course (see section 10).

Your word-processing software may have a footnote function (usually in the ‘Insert’ pull-down menu), if it does not, notes should be placed as a numbered list at the end of the essay. Numbers for notes are usually placed at the end of the sentence, after punctuation, such as commas or full stops, and quotation marks: ‘Mrs Grose replies that ‘Master Miles only said “We must do nothing but what she likes!”’’. If your computer does not have a footnote facility, or the facility to place numbers in superscript, then place the number of the note in brackets: ‘Mrs Grose replies that ‘Master Miles only said “We must do nothing but what she likes!”’ (1). To convert a number to superscript in Word, highlight it, go to ‘Format’, then to ‘Font’ and tick the ‘superscript’ box.

The footnotes or endnotes themselves should be set out as follows:

Books

The author’s name is given as written on the title page of the book. The title is given in italics (or can be underlined instead), and the main title is separated from the subtitle by a colon (even if the punctuation on the title page is different). The place of publication (city, not country) comes next, then the name of the press (without secondary matter such as ‘& Co.’, ‘Ltd.’). Remember to include the page number your quotation is drawn from, preceded by ‘p.’ for ‘page’, or ‘pp.’ for ‘pages’.

If the book you are using has been translated or edited by someone, you should include their name, as above. However, it is the main author, rather than the translator or editor, whose name appears at the beginning of the note (here Starobinski, rather than Goldhammer). If you are using a book of letters or diary entries, for example, that contains the name of the main author within it (as here with Dickinson’s Selected Letters), you do not need to repeat the author’s name at the beginning of the citation.

You should also specify which edition of a book you are using, if it is not the first edition of the work in question (here, the second edition of Dickinson’s Selected Letters), because different editions may contain different material, or have different page numbering.

If the work you are citing is a reference work, such as a dictionary or a guide to English literature, the reference should begin with the title of the work, rather than the name of the editor. If there are more than three editors or authors of a work, use the first name on the title page and ‘and others’. If one volume of a multi-volume work has been used, the volume number should be given in roman numerals (here six has been turned into VI). ‘p’ is usually omitted if a volume number is given.

Chapters or articles in books
The title of the chapter or article is put in single quotation marks and followed by the word ‘in’, then the name of the book, with full publication details. The first and last page numbers of the article or chapter should be given, preceded by ‘pp.’, and finally, the page number to which you are referring should be given in brackets, preceded by ‘p.’, or, if you are referring to more than one page, ‘pp.’.

Articles in journals

The name of the article is followed directly by the name of the journal in which it appears, without the ‘in’ used for chapters in books (see above). After the title of the journal, give the volume number of the journal (without writing ‘volume’ or ‘vol.’) and if the volume number is given in roman numerals, convert it to arabic numerals (here ‘85’, rather than ‘LXXXV’). Follow this with the year in which the volume was published (here 1990), the first and last page numbers of the article (and when referring to journal articles rather than book chapters, don’t use ‘pp.’), and finally, the page number to which you are referring, in brackets and preceded by ‘p.’ or ‘pp.’.

Articles in newspapers and magazines

The method of citation is the same as for journal articles, except that the date of the newspaper should be given, in place of the volume number and year.

Electronic resources
Electronic resources can provide useful information for use in your essays. However, their quality and authority vary widely. While CD-ROM resources available on library computers are generally reliable, internet resources such as personal websites are much less likely to be—or at least, there is no guarantee that they are. You should use books and journal articles to check any information you find on the internet, and the research for your essays should in any case extend well beyond internet resources.

When citing electronic resources, you should follow the style used for printed publications above as far as possible. Information should be given in the following order: ‘author’s name; title of item; title of complete work/ resource; publication details (volume, issue, date); full address of the resource (URL), in angle brackets; date at which the resource was consulted, in square brackets; location of passage cited, in parentheses.

E.E. (Edward Estlin) Cummings, ‘maggie and milly and molly and may’ in Literature Online <http://lion.chadwyck.co.uk> [accessed 5 June 2001].

References where the original source is not given

If you want to quote something that a critic is quoting, and you are not able to look at the critic’s original source, use the following form for the note:

If the year of the work, or even the title, isn’t given by the critic, you can write:

You should, however, attempt to look at the original source. Looking at the original context of a quotation is one of the ways you are able to evaluate the critic’s use of their material.

Subsequent references

When you refer to a source for a second time, you must still provide a footnote or an endnote, but you do not need to repeat all the bibliographical details. You can give the reference as the surname of the author, or surname and abbreviated title, if your bibliography holds more than one work by the author: ‘McArthur, p. 63’ or ‘McArthur, Worlds of Reference, p. 63’. Do not use the outdated forms of reference ‘ibid.’ or ‘op.cit.’. If you are likely to refer to a small number of works many times in an essay (if, for example, you are writing an essay that focuses on one or two books), you may identify an abbreviation in the first full reference and include all subsequent references in your own text, e.g.:

References to ‘The Turn of the Screw’ would then appear in brackets in your own text:

Mrs Grose replies that ‘Master Miles only said “We must do nothing but what she likes!”’ (TS 197).
Bibliography:
All the material referred to in footnotes or endnotes, and any other material you have consulted, must appear in a bibliography at the end of the essay. The form is the same as the notes, except that the works appear in alphabetical order, with the surname of the author or editor preceding the first name, and the page number you referred to in your essay should be omitted (inclusive page numbers of articles in journals and newspapers, or chapters in books should be retained). It is easier for your reader to find information in your bibliography if you do not divide it up into categories of work (such as ‘primary’ and ‘secondary’ or ‘books’ and ‘films’): include all works in one list. The only exception to this is archival material.

Support for Students

Support for students with Disabilities, Dyslexia and Mental Health Needs

At Birkbeck there are students with a wide range of disabilities, specific learning difficulties, medical conditions and mental health conditions (hereinafter referred to as disabled students). Many of them have benefited from the advice and support provided by the College's Wellbeing Centre. The Wellbeing Centre is located in G26 on the Ground floor of the Malet Street building.

All enquiries should come to the Wellbeing Centre (+44 (0) 20 3907 0700) who will determine the appropriate referral to specialists in the Disability and Dyslexia Service and Mental Health Service. They can provide advice and support on travel and parking, physical access, the Disabled Students’ Allowance, specialist equipment, personal support, examination arrangements, etc.

On enrolment you need to complete a Study Support Plan (SSP), which will set out the reasonable adjustments that we will make with physical access, lectures, seminars, assessments and exams. After you complete this and provide disability evidence, we confirm the adjustments you require and then your department, examinations office, etc. will be informed that your SSP is available and adjustments can be made. You should contact the Wellbeing Service if any of your adjustments are not in place.

Access at Birkbeck
Birkbeck's main buildings have wheelchair access, accessible lifts and toilets, our reception desks and teaching venues have induction loops for people with hearing impairments, and we have large print and tactile signage. Accessible parking, lockers, specialist seating in lectures and seminars and portable induction loops can all be arranged by the Disability & Dyslexia Service.

The Disabled Students’ Allowance
UK and EU (with migrant worker status) disabled students on undergraduate and postgraduate courses are eligible to apply for the Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA). The DSA provides specialist equipment including computers with assistive technology and training, personal help (e.g. study skills tutors, mentors and BSL interpreters) and additional travel costs for students who have to use taxis. It provides thousands of pounds worth of support and all the evidence shows that students who receive it are more likely to complete their courses successfully. The Wellbeing Centre can provide further information on the DSA and can assist you in applying to Student Finance England for this support. From September 2016, new students will receive their note-taking support from the University rather than the DSA.
Support in your Department
Your Department is responsible for making reasonable adjustments in learning and teaching and assessment, specialist seating, etc. Whilst we anticipate that this support will be provided by the Programme Director, tutors and Programme Administrator in the Department, they will also have a Disability Lead. If you experience any difficulties or require additional support from the Department then they may also be able to assist you. They may be contacted through the Programme Administrator.

Support in IT Services and Library Services
There is a comprehensive range of specialist equipment for students with disabilities in IT Services. This includes an Assistive Technology Room, which may be booked by disabled students. We have software packages for dyslexic students (e.g. Claroread and Mind view), screen reading and character enhancing software for students with visual impairments available in our computer laboratories, specialist scanning software, large monitors, ergonomic mice and keyboards, specialist orthopaedic chairs, etc. We have an Assistive Technology Officer, who can be contacted via IT Services.

The Library has an Assistive Technology Centre, where there is also a range of specialist equipment, including an electronic magnifier for visually impaired students, as well as specialist orthopaedic chairs and writing slopes. The Disability and Dyslexia Service Office refers all students with disabilities to the Library Access Support service, who provide a comprehensive range of services for students with disabilities and dyslexia.

Examinations and Assessments
Many disabled students can receive support in examinations, including additional time, use of a computer, etc. In exceptional circumstances, students may be offered an alternative form of assessment.

Specific Learning Difficulties (e.g. dyslexia, dyspraxia)
Mature students who experienced problems at school are often unaware that these problems may result from their being dyslexic. Whilst dyslexia cannot be cured, you can learn strategies to make studying significantly easier. If you think you may be dyslexic you can take an online screening test in the computer laboratories – the instructions for the screening test are available on the Disability Office website. If appropriate, you will be referred to an Educational Psychologist for a dyslexia assessment. Some students can receive assistance in meeting the cost of this assessment, either from their employer or from Birkbeck.

Academic and Language Support Facilities for Postgraduate Students

Centre for Transformative Practice in Learning and Teaching (CTPLT)
The Centre for Transformative Practice in Learning and Teaching (located in the Main Building, Torrington Square) provides workshops and some individual tutorial assistance to PG students. Please click on this link and look under the ‘Postgraduate Student Support’ tab on the website for further information.

One-To-One Tutorials
The CTPLT offers a number of one-to-one tutorials available each week, including during term 3. These are meant to help students with a specific aspect of their writing. Tutorials can be booked by emailing: learningskills@bbk.ac.uk. Students are asked to bring a sample of their work with them to the appointment.

Workshops Covering a Range of Skills
There are CTPLT workshops specifically for PG students. These are offered periodically throughout the year, but more frequently in Autumn and Spring terms. There is an ‘Academic Writing Day for PGs’ in May, and a day in February on referencing.

Workshops can be viewed and booked on the Academic Development Workshop Calendar. The Academic Development Workshop Calendar includes information on all workshops offered throughout Birkbeck.

Facilitated Writing Workshops
In July and August CTPLT will be hosting a series of facilitated writing workshops designed to help students engage with their dissertation writing process. These workshops are also booked through the Academic Development Workshop Calendar.

Language and Grammar
The CTPLT offers workshops through the year on aspects of formal, academic expression. There are also weekly ‘Drop In’ Language and Grammar sessions. Information about topics, dates and venues can be found on the Academic Development Workshop Calendar.

School of Arts Workshops
In the Autumn and Spring terms, Dr Fleur Rothschild, Learning Development Tutor for the School of Arts, offers a series of workshops on:

- Study Skills
- Research Skills
- Essay Writing
• Language and Grammar

These workshops are open to all students in the School of Arts, including Postgraduate students, and there is always a contingent of PGs who attend each term. The schedules are usually published in September and can then be accessed via the Birkbeck website here or in the Academic Development Workshop Calendar.

Regrettably, Dr Rothschild is unable to offer one-to-one help to Postgraduate students who should, in the first instance, contact their Personal Tutor, or Dissertation Supervisor.

Online resources
Online resources can be found in students’ Moodle list:

• Birkbeck Learning Skills, for example What materials are available to help develop my academic English?
• School of Arts Study Skills
  Study Tools; Language and Grammar. This resource is a WIP which will be progressively developed through the summer and the coming academic year. It currently contains resources and slides from some of the Study Skills, and Language and Grammar workshops.

Get Ahead: Stay Ahead - Helping you get the best possible start to your course

At Birkbeck we want to make sure you get all the help you need to get your studies off to a great start and to provide you with support during your course. On the Get Ahead: Stay Ahead website you can access a range of online resources to help you:

• consider how you can achieve your goals
• find out what studying at Birkbeck is like
• improve your study skills and succeed on your course
• The online materials are interactive tutorials that are free to use and you can work through them at your own pace.

These interactive tutorials will help you consider how you can achieve your goals, find out what studying at Birkbeck is like and improve your academic skills: http://www.bbk.ac.uk/mybirkbeck/get-ahead-stay-ahead.

For further information on Learning Development and Academic Skills support available within Birkbeck College, please see the website for details: http://www.bbk.ac.uk/mybirkbeck/services/facilities/support.
As a Birkbeck student, you can get access to a range of support and study facilities. Please follow the links below to access current information on the following facilities:

- Academic support
- Accommodation services
- Career services
- Computing and IT services
- Counselling service
- Disability and dyslexia support
- Financial support
- Graduate Research School
- Health services
- Learning Development Service
- Library services
- Lockers
- Moodle
- Nursery
- Orientation for new students
- Student Advice Centre
- Wellbeing Service

If you want to talk to someone about any aspect of this provision, please contact the Student Advice Service.
International Students

Birkbeck offers a range of support services for international students. Please access the website for details here.

- Guide for international students
- Submit your Visa and immigration enquiry
- Visa and registration information
Study Resources

Birkbeck Computer Services
There are two or three large rooms in the main building and one in the basement of Senate House that make computer terminals available to Birkbeck students. This gives you free access to word-processing should you require it, as well as an email account and entry to the internet. There are many, constantly growing resources available on the Internet, and it is becoming an increasingly vital element of academic research. Please see details on the website here:
http://www.bbk.ac.uk/its/timetables/.

The College constantly runs a rotating series of courses introducing students to word processing packages, negotiating the Internet, and other skills: check the notice board outside E101 (meaning the first floor of the extension block of the main building), and sign up early: these courses are very popular.

College Hardship / Book Buying Funds
It may be possible, if you are having financial difficulties, to apply to the College for assistance with fees and to receive small awards to help with the purchase of essential texts. For information and advice, contact the Student Advice Service and see the Birkbeck website here for further details: http://www.bbk.ac.uk/student-services/financial-support/hardship-fund.

Libraries

Birkbeck Library

Birkbeck Library is on the first floor of the main building in Malet Street. Please refer to the Birkbeck website for current User Information, Library Opening Hours, Frequently Asked Questions, and to search the online catalogue.

Birkbeck Electronic Library
The Library subscribes to many electronic journals and databases. You can access these from anywhere within College using your Central Computing Services (CCS) username and password, and the majority of these resources can also be accessed from home or work. As well as finding comprehensive information about the Library, its services and collections, you can also:

- Search the Library catalogue, renew your books and place reservations on items out on loan.
- Read articles in over 12,000 electronic journal titles and newspapers.
- Search databases to help you find out what has been written about the subject you are researching, including Literature Online (LION), which includes the MLA
International Bibliography (MLA) and the Annual Bibliography of English Language and Literature (ABELL), the Arts & Humanities Citation Index, JSTOR, PCI and Project Muse.

- Work through LIFE – an online tutorial to help you make the most of the Library.

Other libraries
Birkbeck students can also use a range of other libraries. Students have reference access to most University of London college libraries. In addition, the UK Libraries Plus Scheme allows students reference access to over 135 other higher education libraries and part-time students may also borrow from up to three member libraries. See the Library web site for more information.

Further information and help
Please contact your Subject Librarians for MA Contemporay Literature and Culture programme on elplibrarian@bbk.ac.uk. Feel welcome to contact them with any Library enquiries.

Senate House Library
Situated next door to Birkbeck College, on the fourth floor of Senate House, this is a world-class research library, with extensive collections in twentieth-century British and American fiction and criticism. Staff are very helpful in negotiating this initially confusing library, and you should be able to find most of the materials you require. They have recently purchased a large number of videos which can be viewed in the building. Membership of this library is absolutely vital for your MA.

British Library
A copyright library, which receives all books published in Britain and has a very broad and deep collection of books published elsewhere too. It is only 15 minutes walk from Birkbeck and is an excellent resource for MA study. Books usually take between 50 minutes and 2 hours to arrive at your desk. The library has changed its policy regarding student admission several times in the past year. At the time of going to press, you should be able to join on showing your MA card, but it is worth checking the website for details before you visit for the first time. Queues to the admissions office tend to build up in the middle of the day – try first thing in the morning (from 9:30 am, or 10:00 am on Mondays). The library is open until 8:00 Monday-Thursday, and until 5 on Fridays and Saturdays.

University College Library
This is situated 5 minutes away from Birkbeck, on Gower Street. Students from Birkbeck are admitted to the library, and since it has extensive holdings in English literature, it is worth holding in reserve if texts are proving difficult to obtain. Make sure you have your Birkbeck college card and a photograph when you first visit.

M25 Consortium Libraries and SCONUL Research Extra
Birkbeck participates in an arrangement that allows academics and research students to use other research libraries in the country. It may be convenient for you to have access to the libraries of another university, especially if you do not live or work close to Birkbeck. Some university libraries also have extended hours, which can be useful if you need a quiet place to work later at night. (Imperial, for example, is open for 24 hours during its exam period, including to registered external users.) Opening hours change with some regularity, and libraries have different kinds of restrictions, so check websites for details. Begin with the M25 Consortium Libraries page at www.m25lib.ac.uk/, and www.sconul.ac.uk/use_lib/srx/.

Other Graduate Activities

We have a large postgraduate community, and there are many other arenas you might wish to participate in. We circulate information by email about interesting and relevant events taking place in London and beyond: conferences, readings, exhibitions.

MA Thursday evening lectures programme
We aim to stimulate cross-fertilisation between MA programmes by putting on a series of lectures by guest speakers, and panels with staff and current graduates, on Thursday evenings from 7:30. A full programme of speakers should be available from October and advertised on the department’s website.

Modernist and Contemporary Reading Groups
Run by PhD students, these groups meet in order to read texts organised around a different theme each term. MA students are welcomed. Ask the MA convenor or the postgraduate office for more information. The Contemporary Fiction Group aims to meet twice a term: see http://dandelionnetwork.org/group/contemporaryfictiongroup for this group’s latest activities.

The Birkbeck Centre for Contemporary Literature (CCL)
Founded in 2012, Birkbeck’s Centre for Contemporary Literature is a meeting place for numerous ongoing projects by academic staff, creative writers and graduate students. The Centre hosts conferences and symposia, readings and seminars on a range of contemporary writers – in prose fiction but also potentially in other forms and media. We are open to suggestions for future projects and events, including collaborations with other departments, writers and artists, and non-academic institutions.

Centres for Poetics and Cinema
Dr Stephen Willey directs the Centre for Poetics and Cinema which runs seminars, workshops, conferences and readings by poets throughout the year, and also collaborates on writing projects such as the Voiceworks series with the Wigmore Hall and Guildhall School of Music. The Centre has its own web journals, pores and Readings, and has developed an imprint, Veer Books, along with an active group of postgraduate poets, London Under Construction. Sessions are open and informal. Look out for regular posts on email.

Birkbeck day conferences

The Centre for English Studies
The Centre for English Studies is located on the third floor of Senate House, and provides a structured sequence of seminars, lectures from distinguished speakers, day conferences and graduate seminars. Many of these are held during the day, but there are also weekend conferences and late afternoon meetings if you are able to attend. The Centre releases a batch of material at the beginning of each term, announcing the programme for the coming weeks: we will normally email you about relevant events.

Look out particularly for the London Modernism Seminar which meets on the first Saturday of each month during term time.

The Institute for Romance Studies, also located in Senate House, often puts on lectures and conferences which may be relevant to your studies. Information is available at Senate House, and also advertised on the notice-board.

Research Centres
Birkbeck, University of London, is an internationally recognised institution with a reputation for cutting-edge research. The School of Arts brings together some of the finest research activity across the college, research that is recognised as world-leading.

Research in our School is conducted under the auspices of our academic departments as well as our highly respected research centres. You are warmly encouraged to engage with the various research centres throughout the School, and wider college, to attend and get involved in organizing events to better inform your own research and study.

The School’s Research Centres can be found here:

Appendix A: Getting Started with Moodle

What is Moodle?
Birkbeck uses ‘Moodle’ as its Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) platform. Moodle is used to house course documentation (handbooks, module outlines, coursework, coversheets etc.) materials (readings, PowerPoint presentations, slide lists etc.) and for electronic submission and marking of coursework.

Access Moodle
You can access Moodle here. To log in you need your ITS username and password, a computer with a connection to the internet and a web browser such as Internet Explorer or Firefox.

Login Details
If you are having login problems, but your password is working for other services, please change your password via the online form (allow one hour after completing this form, and then log in to Moodle again). If this hasn't resolved the problem please contact the ITS Helpdesk via email (its@bbk.ac.uk), telephone (020 7631 6543), or in person (Malet St building, next to the entrance to the Library).

Moodle Support for Students
Please access the Moodle Support area for Birkbeck students for information on how to get started with Moodle and updates on how to submit the all-important Turnitin assignment.
Appendix B: Common Awards Scheme
Regulations and Policies

Common Awards Scheme
Please access the Common Awards Scheme regulations for taught and research programmes for the current academic year.

If you have any queries regarding the regulations please contact asq@bbk.ac.uk.

Policies
See the Birkbeck College website for access to current policies including: Assessment Offences, Mitigating Circumstances and Break-in-Studies Policy.
