How to find full text journal articles

This is a quick guide to help you find the full text of journal articles through the Birkbeck Library site. The example used will be:

To access the full text of a journal article, or to find out whether the full text is available, please follow these steps:

1. Go to the eLibrary page on the Birkbeck Library website at http://www.bbk.ac.uk/lib/elib/, or from the Library homepage, click the eLibrary link below.

2. Type the name of the journal into the search box, e.g. 'British Journal of Management' and click the ‘Search’ button.

1 record retrieved for the search: Title begins with "British Journal of Management"
3. Click on a link that shows the holdings of the journal for the year of the reference, 2010 in the example reference above. In this case, all of the links will provide the full text.

Welcome to the Birkbeck Library EZproxy login page

Please enter your ITS username:
Please enter your password:
Login

4. If prompted with the pink EZproxy login page, please login using your ITS username and password.

5. Once you are arrive at the database page, you need to navigate to the required issue of the journal, in the example above, 2010, volume 21, issue 1. The way to do this will vary between different databases, but usually you need to look for a link that mentions ‘All issues’, ‘Archive’, or has a list of years.

6. Once you have found the article, click on a link that mentions ‘full text’ to view, save, email or print the article.