

Language, Identity, and Intercultural Communication

A joint conference of the BAAL Intercultural Communication Special Interest Group and The Annual Bloomsbury Round Table

Dates: 9 -10 June, 2011.

Location: Mal B20 & Mal B34, Malet Street building, Birkbeck College, Bloomsbury, London WC1E 7HX

(Information on how to get to the venue can be found at <http://www.bbk.ac.uk/maps>)

9 June 2011	MAL B20	MAL B34
9:30-10:00	Registration
10:00-10:15	Welcome
10:15-11:15	Keynote speech Identity and subjectivity in the era of globalization Claire Kramsch
11:15-11:45	Identity, power, language and the configuration of the intercultural space: the case of Ecuadorian migrants in Spain Théophile Ambadiang & Isabel García Parejo	Listener identity and perceptions of foreign accent: the effect of ambiguity tolerance Valentina Seravalle
11:45-12:15	The cultural memory of language: an analysis of absence Susan Samata	Identification as native or intercultural speaker: searching for evidence in language learners' conversations Jane A Woodin
12:15-12:45	Linguistic identity-play amongst Sephardic Jews in Bulgaria: a narrative study Leah Davcheva & Richard Fay	Intercultural encounters in the wings of academia: Participation, identity and language in the early stages of two L2 students' master's dissertations Hania Salter- Dvorak
12:45-1:30	Lunch break

1:30-2:00	Language & identity: the impact of Nigerian video-films on diasporic communities Francoise Ugochukwu	Multiple Identities in Intercultural Communication in a Thai EFL Context Noparat Tananuraksakul
2:00-2:30	You lot will never learn: How British migrants in south-west France construct identity online Michelle Lawson	Perceptions of identity in multilingual language students Clara Molina
2:30-3:00	Self-expression, solidarity, and accommodation: A-B-A codeswitching pattern in complementary school classroom interaction Rika Yamashita	The mediation of cultural identity in student webchat Helen O'Sullivan, Gillian Martin & Breffni O'Rourk
3:00-3:30	Social identity, language attitudes and public communication in Montreal Ruth Kircher	Multilingualism among Brussels based civil servants and lobbyists: perceptions, practices and power positions Attila Krizsán & Tero Erkkilä
3:30-3:45	Coffee break
3:45-4:15	Doing 'being a Cambodian radio DJ in English' Stephen Moore	Language at work: native and non-native speech acts in Business English Rachele De Felice
4:15-4:45	Co-constructing, co-expressing and co-enacting identification: the case of an intercultural couple on Chinese television Fred Dervin & Minghui Gao	Culture and identity in intercultural communication through English as a lingua franca: empowerment or irrelevance? Will Baker
4:45-5:15	How do bilingual couples negotiate Yvonne Chi	Using English to assert Chinese identity and spread Chinese language and culture Gulbahar Beckett & Tammy Slater

10 June	MAL B20	MAL B34
10:00-10:30	Cultivating intercultural dialogue through English language education in a UNESCO-associated program Jan Van Maele, Katrien Mertens & Sergio A. Scatolini	Negotiating identities: the South Asian students in Hong Kong Linda Tsung
10:30-11:00	Intercultural communicative competence among adult distance language learners – two case studies Uwe Baumann	Developing transnational identity: The cultural adjustment of Israeli MBA students in an American business school Ayelet Sasson
11:00-11:30	Intercultural dialogue: A new domain for intercultural competence Prue Holmes	Constructions of teaching, learning and identity across communities and schools in a multilingual British city Jean Conteh
11:30-12:00	Language materials for the development of intercultural communicative competence Carlos Rico Troncoso	The role of metaphor in shaping the organisational identity and agenda of the United Nations: the imagining of an international community Lisa J. McEntee-Atalianis
12:00-12:15pm	Coffee break
12:15-12:45	The potential of travel writing for enhancing processes of self-reflexivity and intercultural communication in the EFL classroom. Simona Agata Giuffrida	Constructing identities among intercultural project partners: Insights from psychology and management Helen Spencer-Oatey
12:45-1:15	Transcending the self-other dichotomy: drama pedagogy as transcultural education Susanne Even	Chairing international business meetings: investigating humour and the construction of leadership identity in the multicultural workplace Pamela Rogerson-Revell
1:15-2:00	Lunch break

2:00-3:00	Keynote speech: Performing the institutional self Celia Roberts
3:00-3:30	Negotiating second language identities during the Year Abroad: case studies of British ERASMUS students in Italy Sonia Gallucci	Observing intercultural communication in Brussels hospitals Nick Resmann
3:30-4:00	The Language Café: Intercultural communication in process Loretta Qwarnström & BethAnne Yoxsimer Paulsrud	Accounting for the cultural in international professional interactions: A corpus-informed case study of Japanese engineers' discourses Michael Handford
4:00-4:30	The characteristics of language teachers likely to increase their intercultural communicative competence on immersion programmes Debbie Corder, Sharon Harvey, Annelies Roskvist & Karen Stacey	Identities and identification at multicultural workplaces Kirsi-Marja Toivanen-Sevrjukov
4:30-5:00	Using social media to research student experience of study abroad Ana Beaven	Teamwork perspectives and self-promotion in the graduate recruitment interview Sophie Reissner-Roubicek