14	Programme Rationale & Aims
	Following a series of major governance scandals at major sport governing bodies including the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and FIFA there has been increasing emphasis on the governance and regulation of the sports industry. The rationale underpinning the MSc Sport Management, Governance and Policy is to respond to this focus to enable students to gain a thorough understanding of theoretical issues in corporate governance and sport economics, and link these to the governance and regulation of sport in practice. This programme will provide students with a critical research-based understanding of key issues including the economics of sports leagues, the role of the regulatory authorities, the impact of the media industry and the effects of increased commercialisation on sport. The various modules on the sport management programmes consider how these issues have impacted on the governance and regulation of sport, and sport organisations.

15	Entry Criteria
	Normally at least a second-class honours degree in any subject area from a UK university or a non-UK equivalent. A professional or other qualification obtained by written examinations approved by the College. Relevant experience, supporting statements and references may be taken into consideration, especially in the case of non-standard applications. If English is not the applicant's first language or they have not previously studied in English, our usual requirement is the equivalent of an International English Language Testing System (IELTS Academic Test) score of 6.5, with not less than 6.0 in each of the sub-tests.

17	Learning, teaching and assessment methods
	The teaching and learning strategy on the MSc Sport Management, Governance and Policy allows the needs of mature students that undertake either full-time or part-time study, as well as highly motivated younger students without work experience, to gain up-to-date knowledge which enhances their career prospects. The planning of the programme of study has taken into account the need for evening lectures and seminars to be adequately scheduled; an acceptable workload and its distribution throughout the terms; and the need for accurate information which is in the form of details in the postgraduate handbook, which acts as a guide and which supports independent learning. The eight taught modules that make up the MSc Sport Management, Governance and Policy are taught over a nine-week period. They comprise three-hour weekly sessions comprising face-to-face lectures and a seminar activity. The learning outcomes for each module and lecture are demonstrable and functional so that students will understand what is expected of them and focus their learning activity. Transparent learning outcomes will also help the tutor to align teaching and assessment with these learning outcomes. The face-to-face lectures provide an overview of the relevant issues, supported by the seminars which involve group work and student presentations, and provide the opportunity for interaction

	and discussion to encourage deeper learning and a more in-depth exploration of the problems and issues. The assessment for each module will vary and includes a mix of coursework, exams, marketing reports, group presentations, and a dissertation. All forms of assessment require students to think logically and to adopt an analytical approach to answering the question. The assessment is balanced and all timetabling takes into account the fact that those students with specific needs, have their needs taken into account and they are not disadvantaged in any way. The pass mark is 50% for the combined course work and unseen, formal examination.

18	Programme Description This MSc Sport Management, Governance and Policy programme has eight taught modules and a 12,000 word dissertation. It introduces students to issues of governance and regulation and how they apply in the sport industry. It provides students with a thorough introduction to theoretical issues in corporate governance and sport economics, and links these to the governance and regulation of sport in practice. The programme is ideally suited to the needs of executives within football clubs and media organisations, officers of football and sport regulatory bodies, members of supporters' organisations and local government officials with responsibilities in the leisure field. It will also appeal to those with a general interest in the sport, football and media industries.
