14	Programme Rationale & Aims
	To provide an academic and clinical training in psychodynamic counselling & psychotherapy with a specific focus on working with children and adolescents, which would involve: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • An understanding of psychodynamic theory and of the principles and skills of psychodynamic counselling practice • An ability to apply this understanding to the clinical practice of psychodynamic counselling in specialized practice settings. • The development of a professional identity as a psychodynamic practitioner specialised in working with children and adolescents

15	Entry Criteria
	At least a 2nd Class Honours degree in any subject or equivalent professional qualification. A prior qualification in counselling or therapeutic work, preferably at certificate or diploma level, or its equivalent. Students who do not have a 2nd class honours degree or equivalent professional qualification will be required to submit evidence of academic ability (e.g. pre-enrolment essay). Relevant experience of working with children and/or adolescents is

	essential. Some academic requirements may be waived for candidates with substantial relevant work experience. All students will be admitted in the first instance onto the Graduate Diploma (Year one) unless they have already done a year's mother infant observation and introduction to psychodynamic concepts at a relevant institution.

Student review in each year is assessed as a simple pass/fail. The final mark for the award of Graduate Diploma (at the end of Year 1) will be based on averaging the marks for the essay and the take-away examination. The final mark for the award of Postgraduate Diploma (end of Year 2) will be based on averaging the marks for the 2 essays (one assessed unit) and Case study in Year 2. The final mark for the award of MSc will be based on averaging the marks for: Essays and Case Study in Year 2, and Essays and Case Study in Year 3. The assessment scheme is designed to reflect both the academic and professional nature of the training. The student review is specifically designed to assess the student's professional development over the programme, drawing on objective criteria wherever possible (supervisor's reports, notes on placement meetings). The student review is marked as a pass/fail, with no mark attached, i.e. seen as providing a benchmark for assessing professional standards. Students are assigned a personal tutor, who advises them on managing their workload and gives help and advice on individual assessment elements.
