14	Programme Rationale &amp; Aims
	To provide an academic and clinical training in psychodynamic counselling &amp; psychotherapy, which would involve: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• An understanding of psychodynamic theory and of the principles and skills of psychodynamic counselling practice</li> <li>• An ability to apply this understanding to the clinical practice of psychodynamic counselling in specialized practice settings.</li> <li>• The development of a professional identity as a psychodynamic practitioner</li> </ul>

15	Entry Criteria
	At least a 2nd Class Honours degree in any subject or equivalent professional qualification. A prior qualification in counselling or therapeutic work, preferably at certificate or diploma level, or its equivalent is essential. Students who do not have a 2nd class honours degree or equivalent professional qualification will be required to submit evidence of academic ability (e.g. pre-enrolment essay). Relevant counselling or counselling-related experience is essential. Some academic requirements may be waived for candidates with substantial relevant work experience. All students will be admitted in the first instance onto the Graduate Diploma (Year one) unless they can demonstrate clear equivalence of previous qualification.

16	Learning Outcomes On successful completion of this programme a student will be expected to be able to achieve the following learning outcomes: Subject Specific: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. A high capacity to work as a psychodynamic counsellor/therapist at a suitable professional standard</li> </ol> Intellectual: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>4. A high capacity to understand and use psychoanalytic and psychodynamic principles to increase knowledge of both theory and practice, of personality development, of the inner and outer worlds of the client and of the institutional and group influences on personal development.</li> </ol> Practical: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>5. Development of skills in thinking psychodynamically about counselling/therapy issues, making professional communications about counselling/therapy work, and critically employing the concept of evidence-based practice.</li> </ol> Personal and Social: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>6. A good capacity for self-reflection, especially knowledge of one’s inner world and how it impacts on counselling/therapy work, and one’s role in groups and institutions.</li> <li>7. An excellent capacity for professional and ethical thinking in counselling/therapy</li> </ol>
17	Learning, teaching and assessment methods All elements must be passed in order for students to proceed into the next year, or for the award of the MSc. Year 1: Graduate Diploma in Psychodynamic Counselling &amp; Psychotherapy *30 Level 6 points: Introduction to theoretical &amp; organizational concepts (taught by theoretical seminars and small group tutorials , assessed by 3000 word essay, plus a 2500 word compulsory non-assessed essay) *30 level 6 points: Basic clinical and observational skills (taught by small group tutorials, observation groups, counselling workshops, experiential groups, assessed by 3000 word exam essay) *30 level 6 points: Development of professional attitude (Student Review, readiness to begin placement and initial placement experience, taught in experiential groups and counselling workshops, assessed by Student Review) Exit award: Graduate Diploma (90 credits at level 6)

	Year 2: MSc in Psychodynamic Counselling &amp; Psychotherapy *30 level 7 points: Basic psychodynamic &amp; organizational understanding (taught by theoretical seminars, small group tutorials, assessed by 2500 word and 3000 word essays) *30 level 7 points: Basic psychodynamic skills &amp; principles/techniques of practice (taught by small group tutorials, counselling workshops, experiential groups, assessed by 5000 word case study) *30 level 7 points: Basic psychodynamic competencies and professional attitude (Student Review, taught in experiential groups and counselling workshops, assessed by Student Review) Exit award: Postgraduate Diploma (90 credits at level 7, 30 credits at level 6) Year 3: *30 level 7 points: Clinical Thinking (taught by small group tutorials, lectures and workshops, assessed by 6,000 word case study) *30 level 7 points: Evidence-Based Practice (taught by lectures and small seminar groups, assessed by a 5,000 word essay) *30 level 7 points: Psychosocial and Psychodynamic Practice (taught by lectures and workshops, assessed by 3,000 word essay on psychosocial studies, and by Student review (which includes a 1.500 word clinical report). Student review in each year is assessed as a simple pass/fail. The final mark for the award of Graduate Diploma (at the end of Year 1) will be based on averaging the marks for the essay and the take-away examination. The final mark for the award of Postgraduate Diploma (end of Year 2) will be based on averaging the marks for the 2 essays (one assessed unit) and Case study in Year 2. The final mark for the award of MSc will be based on averaging the marks for: Essays and Case Study in Year 2, and Essays and Case Study in Year 3. The assessment scheme is designed to reflect both the academic and professional nature of the training. The student review is specifically designed to assess the student’s professional development over the programme, drawing on objective criteria wherever possible (supervisor’s reports, notes on placement meetings). The student review is marked as a pass/fail, with no mark attached, i.e. seen as providing a benchmark for assessing professional standards. Students are assigned a personal tutor, who advises them on managing their workload and gives help and advice on individual assessment elements.
